

Financial Information

PhD Department
(As of March 27, 2018)

The following financial information is subject to revision. Note: other expenses include food (about $2.00 in the dining hall), books (about 3 books per course @ approximately $12/book), Visa processing fee, Visa and I-card fees (Bureau of Immigration determines the actual fees), and accommodations.

Application fee (non-refundable, for first registration):	$75 (or peso equivalent)
Administrative Fee per block:	$60
Registration per block:	$75
Library Fee per block:	$50
Tuition fee:	$75/credit hour
Comprehensive exam fee:	$100
Graduation fee:	$90
Dissertation Writing:	$75x6 units=$450 plus residency fee <sup>1</sup>
Dissertation Fee:	$400 (could be prorated) <sup>2</sup>
I.T. Fee:	$6/unit
Misc. Fee:	$3.00/unit
English Test Fee:	$50 (first take; subsequent will be $10)
Health Fees per block:	$23 for long-term dorm students
Student Activity:	$6 for long-term dorm students
Other expenses:	Books, food, accommodations, Visa processing fees, etc.

B. For students from developed countries:

Application fee (non-refundable, for first registration):	$110 (or peso equivalent)
Registration per block:	$110
Administrative fee per block:	$95
Library Fee per block:	$100
Tuition fee:	$110/credit hour
Comprehensive exam fee:	$150
Graduation fee:	$125
Dissertation Writing:	($110x6 units=$660) plus residency fee <sup>3</sup>
Dissertation Fee:	$400 (could be prorated) <sup>4</sup>
I.T. Fee:	$6/unit
Misc. Fee:	$3.00/unit
English Exam:	$85(first take; subsequent, $10)
Health Fees per block:	$23 for long-term students
Student Activity:	$6 for long-term dorm students
Other expenses	Books, food, accommodations, Visa processing fees, etc

---

<sup>1</sup> Students from developing countries pay $75/ block (residency fee) to maintain their status in the program, if unable to defend their actual dissertation within two years after the proposal defense.

<sup>2</sup> Student payments could be kept in a personal fund so that, if they are not able to complete the degree, they could receive that money back.

<sup>3</sup> Students from developed countries pay $110/ block (residency fee) to maintain their status in the program, if unable to defend their actual dissertation within two years after the proposal defense.

<sup>4</sup> Student payments could be kept in a personal fund so that, if they are not able to complete the degree, they could receive that money back.